HOW TO GET FROM MEXICO CITY TO PUEBLA

Puebla is 130 km from Mexico City. It is quite easy to come from the Mexico City's airport to Puebla. The easiest way is by bus, which takes about 2 hours. The bus station is in the same airport. There are buses continuously between these two cities every hour during the 24 hours of the day. The two main companies that operate on this route are Estrella Roja and ADO.

We recommend that you buy your tickets once you arrive to the Mexico City's airport. There is a bus station in both Terminal 1 and Terminal 2 of the airport.

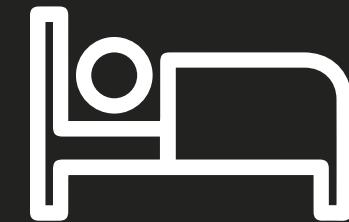

When arriving to Puebla, in the bus station you can take an authorized taxi or use the Uber or Didi app to go to the one of our host hotels.

You can get more information of the bus companies in these websites:

HOST UNIVERSITY

UPAEP IS A LEADING PRIVATE UNIVERSITY IN SOUTH-CENTRAL MEXICO.

It was created in 1973 as a project conceived by Puebla's citizens. It was led by a group of young entrepreneurs who wanted to make a difference and exercise university freedom and identity.

Our educational project took form to become what it is today: an institution committed to seeking and spreading the truth, in congruence with Christian Humanism.

UPAEP currently has more than 17 thousand students distributed in 60 undergraduate programs, more than 70 postgraduate degrees and countless courses continuing education.

UPAEP maintains stable links with prestigious institutions worldwide such as the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Harvard University, the University of Arizona and the University of Notre Dame.

Last year, UPAEP became the first Mexican university to launch the first Mexican nanosatellite.
